Arlington County Police Department
1425 N. Courthouse Road, Arlington, VA 22201
https://police.arlingtonva.us/jobs/

Mr. Matt Lafley, Sergeant
jlafle@arlingtonva.us

The mission of the Arlington County Police Department is the reduction of the incidence of crime and the improvement of the quality of life in Arlington County by making it a place where all people can live safely and without fear.

The Arlington County Police Department was formed on February 1, 1940 with nine members. While a lot has changed in Arlington County since then, our dedication to providing high quality police services to the citizens and visitors of Arlington County has not.

Today, the Arlington County Police Department has over 350 sworn officers and approximately 100 civilian members serving the public. The County is divided operationally into 10 police beats. In addition to preventing and solving crime, the police department provides various community policing services, to include:

- Responses to emergency and non-emergency calls of distress, crime, accidents, lost persons, missing persons, malicious woundings and homicides
- Preliminary criminal investigations
- Standard street patrolling
- Special event planning and motor escorts
- Radar enforcement for speeding violations
- Crime prevention initiatives (crime prevention and safety, community presentations)
- Car safety seat inspections
- Sobriety checkpoints
- Bike registration
- School Resource Officers
- Mentoring disadvantaged youths

The Cato Institute is a public policy research organization—a think tank—dedicated to the principles of individual liberty, limited government, free markets, and peace. Its scholars and analysts conduct independent, nonpartisan research on a wide range of policy issues.

Founded in 1977, Cato owes its name to Cato’s Letters, a series of essays published in 18th-century England that presented a vision of society free from excessive government power. Those essays inspired the architects of the American Revolution. And the simple, timeless principles of that revolution—individual liberty, limited government, and free markets—turn out to be even more powerful in today’s world of global markets and unprecedented access to information than Jefferson or Madison could have imagined. Social and economic freedom is not just the best policy for a free people, it is the indispensable framework for the future.

https://www.cia.gov/index.html

Ms. Kirsten H., Contracting Officer

The Central Intelligence Agency was created in 1947 with the signing of the National Security Act by President Harry S. Truman. To accomplish its mission, the CIA engages in research, development, and deployment of high-leverage technology for intelligence purposes. As a separate agency, CIA serves as an independent source of analysis on topics of concern and also works closely with the other organizations in the Intelligence Community to ensure that the intelligence consumer—whether Washington policymaker or battlefield commander—receives the best intelligence possible. By emphasizing adaptability in its approach to intelligence collection, the CIA can tailor its support to key intelligence consumers and help them meet their needs as they face the issues of the post-Cold War World.

Since 1975, CBO has produced independent analyses of budgetary and economic issues to support the Congressional budget process. Each year, the agency’s economists and budget analysts produce dozens of reports and hundreds of cost estimates for proposed legislation. CBO is strictly nonpartisan; conducts objective, impartial analysis; and hires its employees solely on the basis of professional competence without regard to political affiliation. CBO does not make policy recommendations, and each report and cost estimate summarizes the methodology underlying the analysis. Learn more about CBO’s commitment to objectivity and transparency. CBO’s work follows processes specified in the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 (which established the agency) or developed by the agency in concert with the House and Senate Budget Committees and the Congressional leadership.

Mrs. Leslie Durham, Academic Advisor
ldurham2@gmu.edu

University Career Services, Global Affairs, the Schar School of Government, and the School for Conflict Analysis and Resolution will be hosting the 4th annual Foreign Service Day on Saturday, April 4th in Merten Hall on the Fairfax campus. This all-day event will feature opportunities for students to hear from Foreign Service Officers, Ambassadors, and other State Department officials about the various aspects of the foreign service. Students will be presented with options of breakout sessions, hear a keynote from a former US Ambassador, and participate in a simulation activity coordinated by the Diplomacy Center.

This event is open to all Mason students interested in a career in foreign service, regardless of major. Because there are a limited number of seats available, interested students will be required to submit a resume and cover letter expressing their interest in the event by March 16th, at which time the review process will begin. All students accepted to attend will be expected to attend for the full day of events (anticipated 9am-4pm)

Registration for event opens Friday, February 14th, 2020 on Handshake.

Ms. Risikat Oshodi, HR Specialist
risikat.oshodi@oig.dot.gov

At the Office of Inspector General, we support the Congress, the Department, and the public in achieving a safe, efficient, and effective transportation system. The OIG is charged by Congress with providing programmatic oversight and advice to DOT. Its legislative mandate also includes investigating allegations of fraud, waste, abuse and mismanagement. The OIG staff includes Auditors, Analysts, Attorneys, Special Agents, Computer Scientists, Economists, and experts in many other disciplines. OIG results are used by DOT, Congress, and the Administration in setting policy improving operations.

MR. Charles Donkor, Jr, PSC Recruiter
otijobs@usaid.gov

The United States Agency for International Development (USAID) is the lead U.S. Government agency that works to end extreme global poverty and enable resilient, democratic societies to realize their potential. The Office of Transition Initiatives (OTI) is part of USAID's Bureau for Democracy, Conflict and Humanitarian Assistance (DCHA), and assists countries experiencing complex political crises, including political transitions and conflict. OTI programs supply positive momentum to help a country's transition and avert potential crises that threaten internal, regional, or international peace and stability.

Ms. Marianne Alicona, Director of Development
malicona@volunteerfairfax.org

For 45 years, Volunteer Fairfax has been the regional leader to amplify community impact through volunteerism. Our mission is to lead, connect, and mobilize people and resources to build capacity for stronger communities. Working in partnership with public agencies, nonprofits, and corporations, we address critical needs through intentional volunteer engagements ranging from individual to organized group projects.

Volunteer Fairfax offers opportunities for diverse populations to serve their communities in ways that suit their lifestyles, skills, and interests. Our volunteers perform a wide array of activities that range from supporting social service agencies that feed, clothe, and house thousands of families and persons living in poverty to assisting at emergency preparedness events and national days of service. Since 2014, more than 95,000 Volunteer Fairfax volunteers have contributed 314,770 service hours at a value of nearly $8.2 million to Northern Virginia.
