- Part-time students typically enroll in six credits (two courses) per semester and complete the program in three academic years.

Suggested Course Sequence:

- The MPA curriculum is arranged in a sequential manner. PUAD 500-level courses are foundation courses, 600-level courses are intermediate courses, and the 700-level courses are advanced courses. Students must take PUAD 500-level, or foundation courses, during the first two semesters, followed by 600-level classes. The PUAD 700-level courses should be taken during the last semester or two of enrollment in the MPA program.
- All students should plan to take POGO 511 in their first two semesters in the program. To enroll in 511, students must complete a statistics screening exam. Exams can be taken during a scheduled exam date or completed at the conclusion of the Statistics Workshop (optional). The screening exam can be taken multiple times. If you do not pass the first time, you are welcome to retake it on another test date or register for the workshop. There is no cost associated with the screening exam. For more information, please visit: schar.gmu.edu/511. POGO 511 – Introductory Data Analysis for Policy and Government is a prerequisite for all Methods/Analytics core courses.
- PUAD 700 is considered the capstone course and as such, should be completed in the last semester of the MPA program.
- Elective courses should not be taken until a student has completed a minimum of nine credits of required coursework.
- Please note: A few core courses are typically offered in the summer term.
- Requests for taking a course out of sequence must be made in writing to the student's advisor and must be approved by the advisor and/or MPA Program Director before enrollment.
